African American History Month Lecture Series

Please join the Cerritos Library as we celebrate African American History Month with a special lecture series featuring Dr. Keith Claybrook, Jr., Associate Professor, Department of Africana Studies at California State University, Long Beach; Dr. Alice Nicholas, Africologist and Assistant Professor, Department of Africana Studies at California State University, Long Beach; and Dr. Natalie Sartin, Department Chair of Black/Africana Studies at Cerritos College. These lectures will explore the rich history of Black History commemorations in the United States and emphasize the importance of preserving the traditions of observance, remembrance, and education for future generations.

Preserving the Past, Transforming the Present, and Building the Future: One Hundred Years of Committed Black History Commemorations

This presentation honors the centennial of the inaugural weeklong observance of Black History Week, launched in 1926 by Dr. Carter G. Woodson and the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History now known as the Association for African American Life and History (ASALH). In this first panel discussion, speakers will explore the historical and cultural significance of commemorations in Black history and underscore the urgency of preserving these traditions of observance, remembrance, and learning for future generations. The presentation will also include a brief introduction to the subsequent Black History Month presentations in February at the Cerritos Library. Presented by Dr. M. Keith Claybrook, Jr., Dr. Alice Nicholas, and Dr. Natalie Sartin.

“Cultural Workers: Black Poets, Word, Sound, and Power”

This presentation explores the significance of Black poets as the artistic complement to movements for civil rights and social justice, as well as commemorations of Black history, culture, and excellence. During this presentation, attendees will critically examine the words of selected Black poets representing various moments in Black history, and discuss Black poets as the voice of the people, the truth-tellers, and the social barometers who inspire revolutionary change. The presentation will be led by Dr. Alice Nicholas.

“Our North Star: Safeguarding the Enduring Legacy of Black Publishers”

Beginning in the early nineteenth century, Black publications including newspapers, journals, and other media, have served as essential tools for the Black community to access and disseminate information, promote political and social engagement, affirm cultural identity and representation, correct historical inaccuracies, and tell their own stories. This presentation will explore the enduring legacy of Black publishers in preserving history, empowering communities, and addressing the evolving needs of the Black community. The presentation will be led by Dr. Natalie Sartin.

Festivals, Commemorations, and the Continued Struggle for Freedom

This presentation examines festivals and commemorations as essential parts of the broader Black freedom struggle. It explores how they inform, inspire, and empower communities to continue the fight for human respect and dignity as well as to struggle to increase the quality of life and material conditions for Black people and humanity. Participants will examine Black History Month commemorations, community festivals, family reunions, Juneteenth celebrations, and Kwanzaa as key elements in the continued struggle for freedom. This presentation will be led by Dr. M. Keith Claybrook, Jr.

Making Space for Joy: Curating Asian Pacific American History at the Smithsonian

What goes on behind the scenes at the world’s largest museum? Join curator Theodore S. Gonzalves for an engaging talk that pulls back the curtain on curatorial work at the Smithsonian Institution—and on how objects, stories, and communities shape what we remember as history. Gonzalves discusses his award-winning book—Smithsonian Asian Pacific American History, Art, and Culture in 101 Objects—that rethinks Asian Pacific American history through everyday things like sports, art, popular culture, and play. The program wraps up with a lively look at the book’s chapter focused on “Joy,” where surfing, skateboarding, baseball, toys, and humor reveal how joy has always been part of Asian Pacific American life—even in times of struggle. This talk invites audiences to see history in a new way and to consider how creativity, play, and joy help us imagine more expansive futures. Participants will have an opportunity to purchase Dr. Theodore Gonzalves’s book and have it signed following his presentation. The Making History, Making Change Lecture Series is organized by Smithsonian Affiliations as part of the Smithsonian’s Our Shared Future: 250. It is supported in part by the Dreier Family, Johanna and Ken Kim Family, Vaishali Shah Chadha and Family, and Michael Vu & Meridel Bulle-Vu.

Share an Object that Represents Your Family's Joy

The Cerritos Library invites community members to participate in The Joy of My Family, City, and Country exhibition by loaning a personal object that symbolizes joy, family heritage, cultural identity, or pride in the City of Cerritos or the United States. Objects may measure up to 15" tall by 19" wide. The exhibition will be on display from March 2–31, 2026, and will accompany a special presentation by Dr. Theodore S. Gonzalves at 6 p.m. on Thursday, March 19 in the Skyline Room. Dr. Gonzalves is a curator at the National Museum of American History and editor of Smithsonian Asian Pacific American History, Art, and Culture in 101 Objects. His presentation and the exhibition are presented with support from the Smithsonian Institution as part of the national Making History, Making Change Lecture Series, commemorating the 250th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. The Cerritos Library is proud to be a Smithsonian Institution Affiliate. If you would like to propose an object for display, please contact Librarian I Pedro Orellana at (562) 916-1342 by Wednesday, February 11, 2026. Space is limited, and submissions will be reviewed on a first come, first served basis. Join us in celebrating the joy, stories, and culture that make Cerritos a vibrant community.

Writers Festival Presented by the Friends of the Cerritos Library

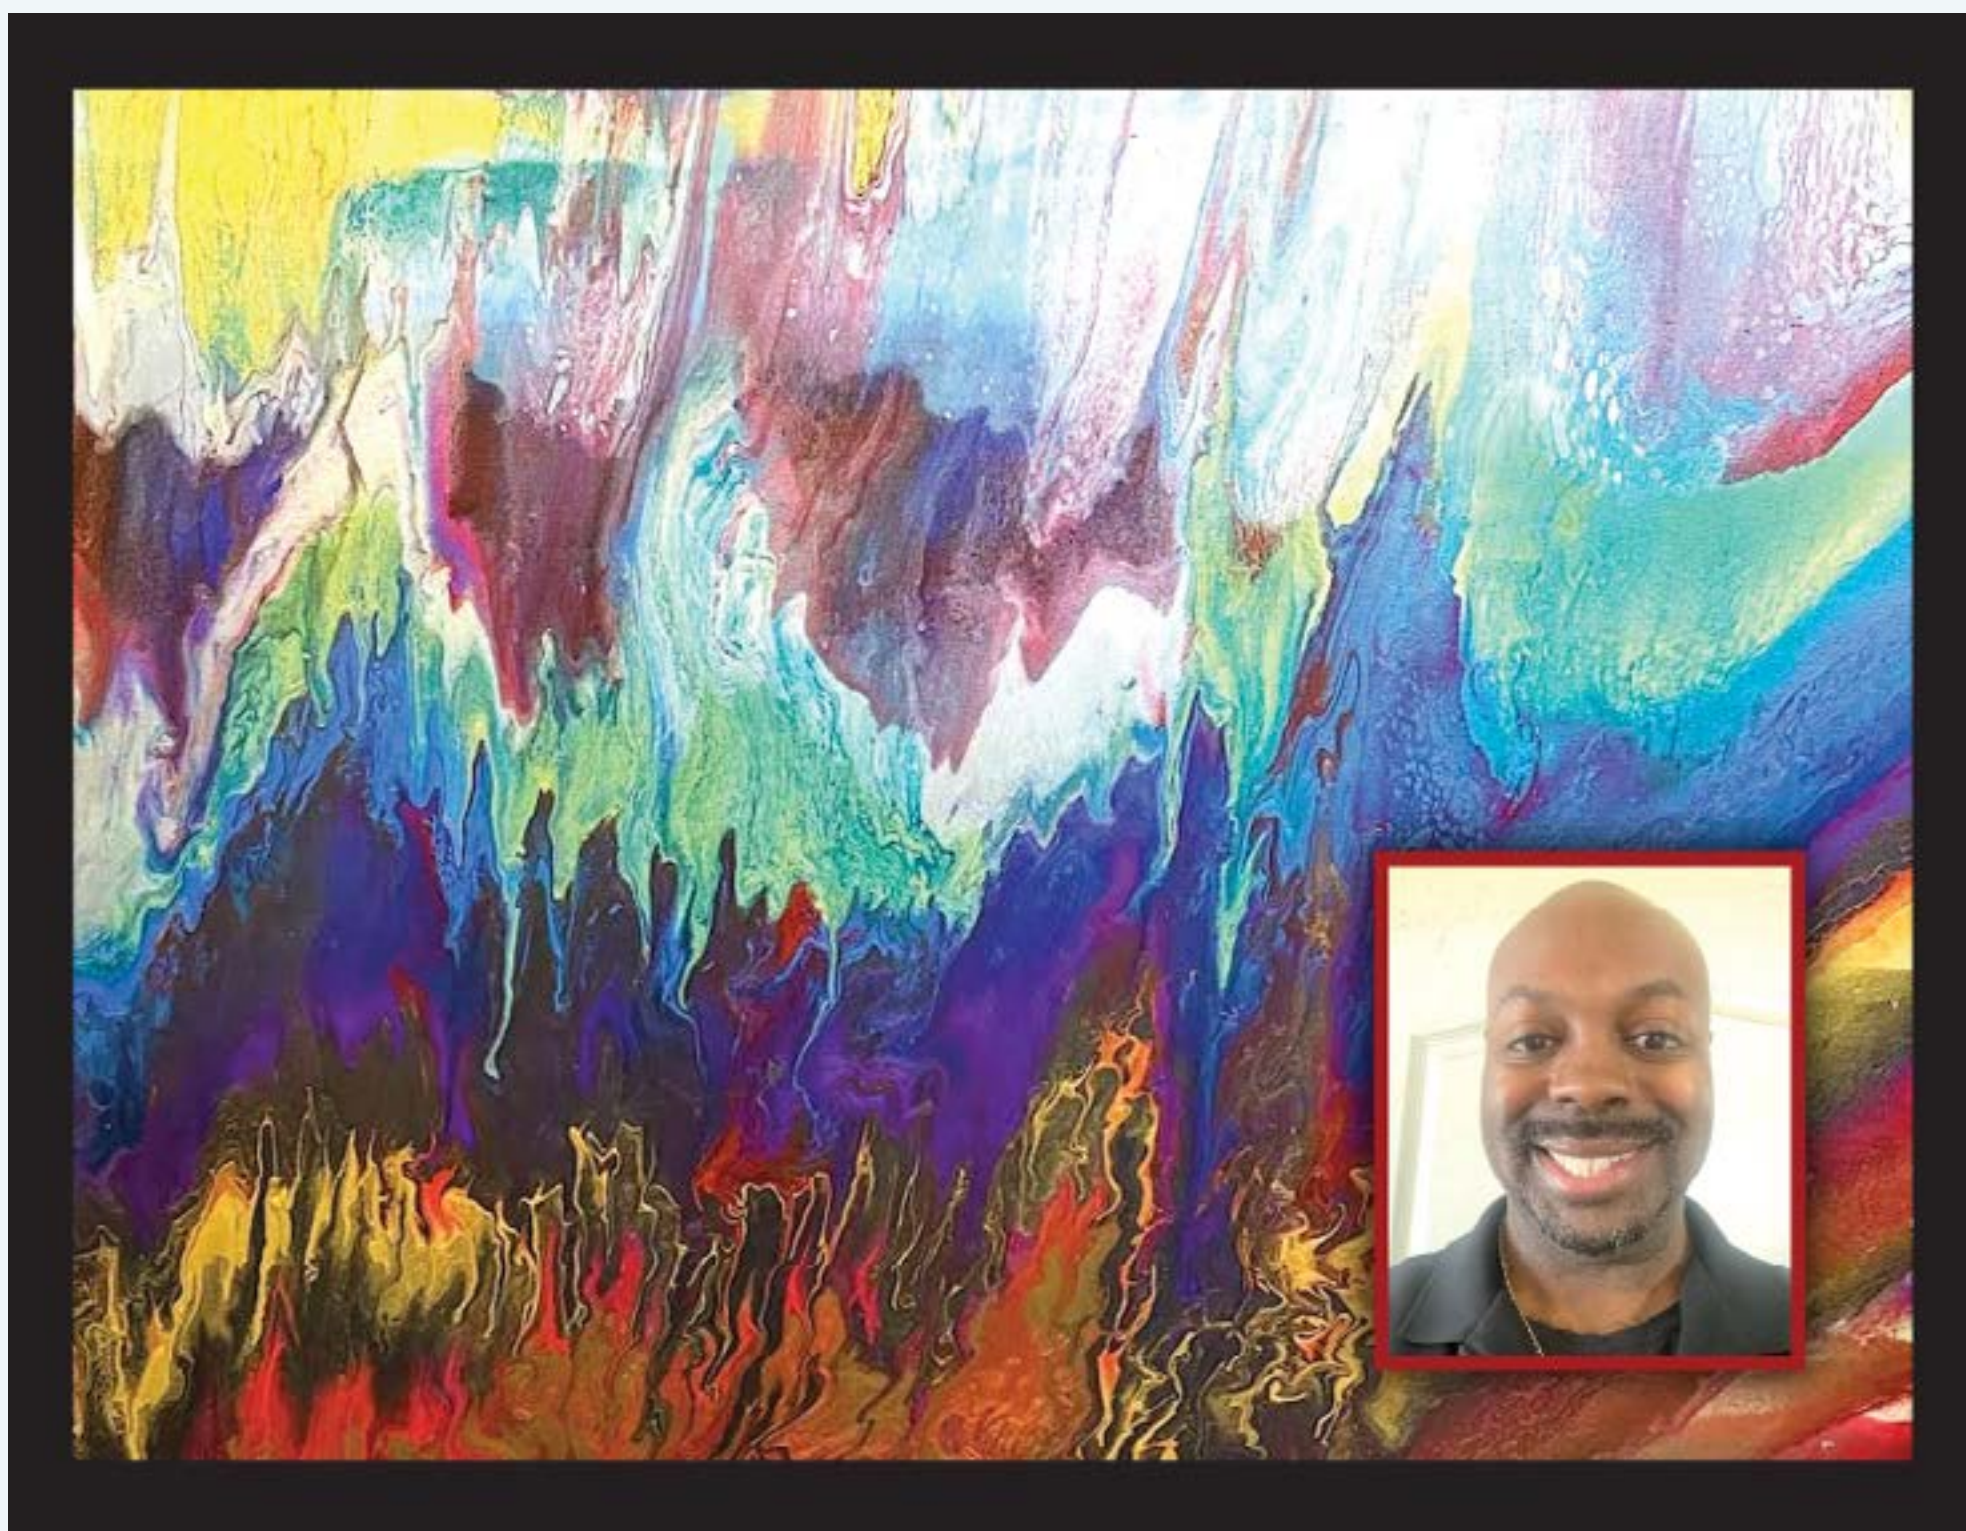

The Friends of the Cerritos Library's third annual Writers Festival will be presented from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, March 28, in the Library's Skyline Room. The event features a high tea experience, and an author panel discussion followed by a book signing. Registration is $65 for members of the Friends of the Cerritos Library and $75 for non-members. Featured authors will be announced soon. Registration for members of the Friends begins on Sunday, February 15, and registration for non-members opens on Sunday, March 1. Guests can register online with eventbrite or by mailing a check to Friends of the City of Cerritos Library, P.O. Box 3876 Cerritos, CA 90703. Payments submitted by check should include a note of the guests' names and phone number or email address. Proceeds from this event will support the Friends of the Cerritos Library's mission to promote the library in the community and raise funds for library programs and services. For more information, please contact the Friends President Shiva Bhatt at (562) 714-4480 or email ShivaBhatt@gmail.com.

Exhibition

An Entourage of Abstract Art

Erik Johnathan Powers presents an exhibit of abstract acrylic paintings on canvas. His work explores color, pattern, and texture to evoke emotion and spark the viewer's imagination. A graduate of California State University, Long Beach, Powers creates art in a variety of mediums and draws inspiration from the intricate details found in abstract composition. On display in the library's main lobby through February.
